Match every platelet every time

As a blood center you are challenged with managing inventory and a donor base to support HLA matching demand. Balancing a hospital's need for HLA matched products along with the manual process associated with paper-based procedures can be time-consuming and costly.

InstaMatch is web-based product matching software that helps blood centers automate the searching and matching process. The software allows you to query EIDorado Donor® Blood Management System for products and donors based on specific HLA antigen and antibody attributes and identify compatible donors, including a check of their donation eligibility.
